President’s Message

Robert Hage

For the past three years as president of The Arc of New Jersey, I have had so many wonderful and inspiring experiences. Until I took on this role I couldn’t have begun to realize the breadth and depth of The Arc, the influence it has or the respect it holds. And yet everywhere I go I see and hear evidence of the power of The Arc.

Self-advocates are speaking out and getting involved more than ever, and are being recognized by Legislators and Administrators as essential stakeholders. Family members of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities are engaging in grassroots advocacy efforts in increasing numbers, resulting in their having a voice at some of the highest levels of decision-making.

And our talented and dedicated staff, both on the local county and state level, are achieving unprecedented success on every front. From securing additional funds for services in this perilous economy to attaining compromise over policy with the administration to developing new ways to meet old challenges, The Arc is not only at the table but in the lead.

The Arc – as a family and as a movement – has never been so innovative, visible and effective. For that I must thank all of you, for your dedication, hard work and passion. Let’s keep moving forward!

Executive Director’s Message

Thomas Baffuto

I have been thinking a lot about the word “relevant” lately. A standard thesaurus will tell you that relevant means significant, important or of consequence. As the Executive Director of The Arc of New Jersey I feel that for every program, project and campaign we endeavor I need to ask the question “is it relevant” to our constituents?

The Arc is significant in the lives of children and adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families because our advocacy is strong and effective, resulting in long term, positive change. The Arc is important because our relationships foster collaboration and creativity, ensuring that services and supports are timely and responsive. The Arc is of consequence because we get the job done. Our constituents and families are always our number one priority and we will never accept anything but success when it comes to addressing their concerns and meeting their needs. Is The Arc relevant? Absolutely! And the evidence of our relevance starts here in the pages of this annual report and continues in the exceptional day to day work of our staff and volunteers.

I urge you to join us. If you have not already signed up for our Family, Friends or Self-Advocacy Network, do it today. Join our grassroots advocacy movement and make your contribution relevant.

The Governmental Affairs Department works throughout the year to maintain and strengthen relationships with elected officials, decision-makers and members of the Administration to ensure public policy and funding levels that will support people with I/DD in the community. This is done through outreach, dialogue and communication with both our grassroots network and our stakeholder community.

Highlights from the Year:
- Attended the Governor’s State of the State and Budget Address at the State House
- Created a comprehensive Get Out the Vote Guide and accompanying web site which included questions and answers from the candidates, as well as the Self-Advocate and Family perspective on voting.
- Successful visits with members of New Jersey’s Congressional delegation in Washington DC, as part of the Disability Policy Seminar.
- Presented to families and Self-Advocates at the Self-Advocacy Conference and at the SPAN Parent Leadership Conference.
- Successfully advocated for a single fingerprinting system that can be shared between DHS and DCF for provider staff who serve individuals both over and under the age of 21.
- Met with top-level officials, including Commissioners and Assistant Commissioners, at both the Department of Human Services and the Department of Children and Families to discuss policy issues, regulations and ongoing issues facing people with I/DD.

- $100 million in new money for people with I/DD in the finalized FY16 Budget – including 200 I/DD specific housing vouchers. (DHS)
- $2.5 million in new money for Family Support Services in the finalized FY16 Budget (DCF)
- $79 million in new money in the proposed FY17 Budget – including 500 I/DD specific housing vouchers.
- Testified before the Senate and Assembly Budget Committees regarding the FY17 State Budget
- 12 bills impacting people with I/DD signed by the Governor in FY16
- Spoke with more than 100 legislators between the Family Caregiver Event and the DD Awareness Event at the State House in November and March respectively. Two legislative ceremonial resolutions and 1 proclamation from the Governor highlighting these events.
- 40 meetings with elected officials on both the State and Federal level.
- Monitored more than 150 pieces of legislation impacting people with I/DD, their families or the community provider agencies who serve them.
- Weighed in with either oral or written testimony on more than 20 bills as they made their way through Committee hearings.

Major Public Policy/Advocacy Issues
- We continue to advocate for increased wages for the Direct Support Professionals who deliver direct care services. Working in coalition with other advocacy groups as well as with our family network, we continue to push this important issue on every possible occasion.
- This year we worked on a number of items impacting children, under the age of 21, who are receiving services through the Department of Children and Families. Examples include: fee-for-service rates, billing increments, agency-based and self-directed respite issues, and camp applications. In some of these instances our advocacy resulted in compromise and in others we achieved outright victory. However in all cases, our voice was heard and included in the discussion as decisions were made.
The Arc of New Jersey Family Institute continues to support families by sharing the necessary information needed to access services and strengthen their advocacy efforts.

Planning for Adult Life (PFAL), currently in its third year, is a statewide project funded by the NJ Division of Developmental Disabilities (DDD) to assist young adults (between the ages of 16-21) with developmental disabilities and their families in charting a life course for adulthood.

The program offers a variety of resources which include informational sessions, webinars and resource guides/materials. Working in 49 schools across the State, PFAL navigators present classes in eight core areas: Postsecondary Education/Employment, Housing, Legal/Financial Planning, Entitlement Programs and Eligibility, Self-Direction, Health/Behavioral Health, Building/Maintaining Community Ties and Friendships and Planning/Visioning a Life Course.

This year the PFAL program utilized feedback about the Prep Clubs and morphed the offering into the Hands on Workshop (HOW) series to better fit the needs of students and parents alike. The HOW series is made up of planning sessions, held in every New Jersey county, that assist parents and their students with the tools needed to create a transition plan for beyond high school. Whether it’s finding work, continuing education, locating a place to live or even starting a business, the HOW series provides valuable resources.

The information from PFAL is so valuable, that the Director was chosen to present at The Arc’s National Convention which was held this year in Indiana. In addition, the PFAL program received 620 calls/emails to their help desk from families in need of information, resources and advocacy. Most common issues included: accessing services, IEP assistance and guardianship.

By the Numbers:
- HOW Series: Serves 342 (Up 36% from last year)
- MAPs Clubs: Serves 638 students (Up 21% from last year)
- Community Site Tours: 15 tours completed/11 pending this spring
- Webinar Series: 1,173 Participants (Up 59% from last year)
- Website: 10,759 Unique Visitors (Up 40% from last year)
- Opportunity Expos: 3 events held, with 315 attendees

Feedback:
From a Kearny High School Transition Teacher: “The students in Kearny High School are benefiting by learning life skills, interpersonal and intrapersonal skills, self-advocacy and empowerment, character development as well as planning goals for the future. The Kearny School District appreciates The Arc of New Jersey’s involvement by graciously offering this program to help our students become responsible and multi-faceted citizens.”

From Ridgefield High School: “After discussing with (the classroom teacher), we feel that our students are greatly benefiting from the Planning for Adult Life Program through The Arc. The program allows our students to learn about life after school beyond the academics that we provide. The activities that you provide in the classroom are realistic and personalized to each student that it “sparks” a thought in their minds about real life situations. Your program is a wonderful addition to help bring our transition program full circle because it reinforces what they learn in school. Lastly, we feel that Mr. McNamara does a great job with the students. He makes the students feel great about themselves by finding value in everything they say.”
Our advocacy campaign was responsible for two very important amendments to the State’s Comprehensive Medicaid Waiver, which were submitted by the New Jersey Division of Developmental Disabilities (DDD) to the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and were approved by CMS in Feb. 2016. As a result of these amendments:

- Individuals with I/DD who are medically fragile and require private duty nursing (PDN) can receive PDN from NJ’s Managed Long-Term Services and Supports (MLTSS) system and can also receive DDD services. Previously, families were informed that their son/daughter was prohibited from having both PDN and DDD services.

- Individuals with I/DD who were not Medicaid eligible (as a result of receiving Social Security Disability Insurance benefits on the work record of parent who retired, became disabled or died) now have a pathway, through DDD’s new Supports Waiver, to be Medicaid eligible, as long as the individual’s total monthly income is under $2,199.

Stats:
- Total number of requests for assistance: 815
- Total 26th Annual Conference attendees: 368
- Number of presentations and webinars: 12
- Total number who attended presentations/webinars: 761
- Distribution of Healthy Times e-newsletter: 2 newsletters, distributed to 819 people

Big Win:
In partnership with The Arc of New Jersey Family Institute, advocated for the continuation of services for students who turn 21 years of age in the middle of the school year.

Advocacy Work Throughout the Year:
The MMC program continues information and advocacy for persons with I/DD who are dual eligibles or dually-diagnosed, and for individuals who experience a problem accessing medical, dental or mental health services from their Managed Care Organization as well as responding to and advocating on new issues.

Feedback:
Email from a father who had numerous questions on the process for his daughter to receive Medicaid as a DAC: “Once again thank you for helping me. The time you have taken has been considerable. The population that you support is extremely fortunate to have you as a resource and advocate!!”

Email following the Medicare Part D Webinar - “The webinar was outstanding. By far the most informative I have ever participated in. You provided a great deal of important information, which I have not seen previously. Your presentation was clear, concise and easily understandable...it is a must watch for families of all dual eligibles. Thank you ever so much.”
Self-Advocacy groups and NJSAP staff are most proud of our outreach and education events that helped raise awareness throughout the year. There was a display set up on the boardwalk at Jenkinson’s Pier in Point Pleasant Beach in July, the Abilities Expo for a 3-day weekend in May, and the celebration of DD Awareness Month at the State House in March.

DD Awareness Month was a huge success - self advocates greeted more than 50 legislators and raised the profile of this important occasion. In addition, they received a proclamation from Commissioner Connolly on behalf of Governor Christie and were presented a ceremonial resolution from Assemblywoman Huttle, Chair of the Assembly Human Services Committee. In addition, students from across the state participated in our Bulletin Board contest - this year’s theme was “We Can, Just Like You” - to increase awareness and acceptance of people with I/DD.

In November, several groups weighed in with Commissioner Connolly in November about FY17 Budget Priorities and in the Spring, Self-Advocates testified before both the Senate and Assembly Budget Committees regarding funding proposals impacting people with I/DD. Furthermore, SAP’s Training and Technical Assistance Specialist was chosen to speak at The Arc’s National Conference this year in Indiana.

Throughout the year we continued to grow our groups, host trainings on a wide variety of topics, and provide support to a large and diverse network of people with disabilities and their staff. The Statewide Self Advocacy Network continued to speak up for their rights this year and specifically, the group sent letters to DDD Assistant Commissioner Shea regarding the rights of Developmental Center residents.

This year’s 32nd Self-Advocacy Conference in September attracted more than 220 attendees and featured both informative workshops and distinguished speakers. Additionally, our Spring Luncheon in April attracted 290 attendees.

Through a grant generously provided by The Horizon Foundation for NJ, Self-Advocates continued to learn about healthy food choices, exercise and stress management techniques. As part of our Healthy Life-styles Project, Self-Advocates spent a day at Maskers Barn enjoying healthy snacks, doing yoga, interacting with a personal trainer, eating a healthy lunch and taking a nature walk.

NJSAP also keeps up with Self-Advocates on social media. Our Facebook page now has 135 likes, up by 54 from last year, and we have 189 followers on Twitter, up from 98 followers last year. In addition, we maintain a Tumblr account where you can view all of our Advocacy Matters newsletters.

By the numbers:
- More than 790 contacts a month between emails, phone calls and personal contact
- Supporting Self-Advocates by attending an average of 12 meetings a month, with 28 new members added across all 5 Councils.
- 40 group leadership and self advocacy trainings have been completed so far.
- 35 adviser/staff trainings
- More than 25 public displays, fundraisers, outreach and education events.
- 25 Healthy Lifestyle workshops, up from 18 last year, and 1,472 Self-Advocates reached, up from 1,312 last year.
Criminal Justice Advocacy Program -
Jessica Oppenheim, Director

This was a banner year for the Criminal Justice Advocacy Program, in terms of success for our clients as well as a huge increase in training requests from all over the State.

In a bow to modern technology and to better meet the needs of professionals in the community, the Equal Justice Conference was replaced this year with a series of webinars, titled Equal Justice Talks. So far this year, five webinars have been held on a range of topics from: Drafting and Implementing a Personalized Justice Plan, Representing the Criminal Defendant with a Developmental Disability, Understanding Risk Assessment Tools for People with Developmental Disabilities who Engage in Sexually Inappropriate Behavior, and Dual Diagnoses. We have already reached more than 300 people through these webinars, a larger number than were able to attend one conference, and we have 4 more webinars to present in the future.

Our caseload is routinely more than 100 cases and is currently at 154 clients receiving services statewide. The average caseload among our Community Care Coordinators is 41, which exceeds our best practice goal of 35.

The Program’s overarching goal is to educate professionals in the criminal justice system about the unique problems and needs of individuals with I/DD. By providing this information, we help to identify alternatives to incarceration for our clients that can result in a better outcome in a criminal matter. To accomplish this, each of the four Community Care Coordinators works with service providers, family members, DDD staff, court personnel and the client to locate and access services that can help keep a client successfully in the community. These services are memorialized in a Personalized Justice Plan (PJP), which is provided to the court and the attorneys and provides specific services for the client, intended to allow each client to remain successfully in the community. As of February 28, 2016, 37 PJPs had been provided to courts throughout the state.

As one of five training sites chosen throughout the country by The National Center on Criminal Justice & Disability, CJAP has assembled a multidisciplinary team called the Pathways to Justice Response Team which is designed to provide training about the unique needs of the disability population to law enforcement, victim service provider agencies and attorneys. As a result of the hard work and commitment of the team members, a full-day training was held at the Monmouth County Fire Academy for 53 professionals from a variety of backgrounds. Work will continue to ensure that this one day training will become a continuous offering for law enforcement, service providers, victim-witness and other professional throughout the State.

CJAP wrapped up its the third year of a grant from the NJ Council on Developmental Disabilities, creating the Coalition Advocating for ReEntry Services, The Arc CARES in Atlantic and Camden Counties, to address gaps in re-entry from jail/prison services. Two trainings for service providers and law enforcement were conducted in June and September. While the grant has ended, training among these disciplines will continue. The Attorney General’s Office has requested our assistance in developing a two day training program and individual prosecutors continue to request their own training in their counties. In addition, we are working with the Administrative Office of the Courts to ensure that municipal court staff and judges are trained to identify and work with this population.
Project HIRE

In addition, Project HIRE increased their focus on finding work for people with visual impairments. Since September, staff spent 618.50 hours with individuals in this capacity and found five people competitive employment. Furthermore, Project HIRE is accredited by CARF, the Rehabilitation Accreditation Commission, for both Community Employment and School Transition Services.
